GSF adds another tool to help early stage Sustainability focused companies

Mahwah, NJ, October 21, 2020 – Global Sustainable Future (“GSF”) is pleased to announce GSF Financial, a project finance platform specifically tailored for early to mid-stage, sustainability focused companies. GSF Financial helps companies provide easy financing options so prospective clients can buy their solutions.

GSF’s new project finance platform is designed to help CleanTech and AgTech businesses close sales faster. GSF Financial is specifically tailored to projects in the $50,000 to $5,000,000 range, supports off balance sheet transactions, X-as-a-Service, Power Purchase Agreements, Energy Savings Agreements and equipment lease structures. Financing rates typically range between 5-10% and project approvals are usually completed within 3 business days. In addition, the service is designed to complement the venture capital and investment firms that support businesses focused on addressing climate change.

Pete Scarpelli, GSF co-managing partner, said, “GSF knows the challenges early-to-mid-stage sustainability firms must overcome to bring their solutions to market. Over the years, GSF team members have co-founded an energy-tech startup, drove energy & sustainability solutions into Global 1000 companies and government agencies, and acquired and/or invested into dozens of companies. We’ve lived the same challenges our clients have, so we designed GSF Financial to help give them the fuel needed to grow.”

GSF Financial, coupled with GSF’s strategic advisory (commercial outreach & international expansion) and equity investments, assists companies with viable, sustainable solutions to exponentially increase market share in North America and Europe.
